"Femmes et démographie: des choix pour l'avenir est le thème choisi par le Conseil du statut de la femme pour le 8 mars 1991 Journée internationale des femmes. Pour aider la réflexion et susciter les discussions, le Conseil a mis à votre disposition documents écrits et documents audio-visuels. Voir le babillard "affaires culturelles".

The Language Abuse Institute offers educational services to help create consistent, less biased and mentally sharper individuals. The examination of language abuse is designed to help you understand how you aid an oppressor or violator through words that contain inconsistencies. Under the handicap of inconsistency, everyone is the victim of the violence in racism, sexism, and individualism. Participants learn through the intensive focus on words that word-using is a political act. The Language Abuse Institute is located at 530 Crawford Street Toronto. The executive Director, Louise Gouëffic can be reached at (416) 535-0692. See the academic bulletin board for brochures.

The National Film Board of Canada is pleased to present a film by Cynthia Scott titled "The Company of Strangers". The film opened at both Le Faubourg (in English), and at Cinema Centre-ville (french subtitled) on Friday, February 22. The film tells the story of seven old women who are stranded at a deserted farmhouse, and how they construct a tightly-knit ensemble of funny, poignant characters.

NEWS OF INTEREST CONTINUED

We have received a letter from the Honourable Carol Gran, Minister of Government Management Services and Minister Responsible for Women's Programs in the province of British Columbia notifying members of the Institute that a province-wide public awareness campaign to help counteract violence against women started February 18, 1991 in British Columbia. Please refer to the cultural affairs bulletin board for details concerning radio, television and newspaper advertisements.

Information concerning the Peer Helper Drop-In Center has been distributed to all Institute instructors. The Center's motto is "students helping students." The services are confidential and free. JOBs

The Department of Earth Sciences at Carleton University has a job opening for a term appointment at the assistant/associate level for a ten-month period commencing September 1, 1991. A Ph.D. is required for this position. Duties include teaching at the undergraduate level in sedimentology, stratigraphy and petroleum geology. There is an opportunity for advanced level teaching in the applicants specialty. The Department hopes to be able to advertise for a tenure-track position in this area effective July 1, 1992.

Carleton University wishes to nominate an eligible applicant with a strong research background in any major field of Earth Sciences for an NSERC Women's Faculty Award. Preference will be given to nominees not more than five years from their doctoral degree. This appointment will lead to a tenure-track position starting July 1, 1991.

PLEASE NOTE: In the February 4th issue of useful information, The Department of English, Glendon College, York University advertised a position stating that applicants were required to have a Ph.D. in linguistics in order to be considered. The correction is as follows: "Candidates who do not hold a Ph.D. will be considered, and candidates with Ph.D. in related fields will be considered." The application deadline has been extended to March 1, 1991 in order to assist those who wish to be considered for this position. Please see the "academic" bulletin board.

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

The Concordia Office of Research Services is calling for the submission of fully-formed proposals to the Faculty Research Development Programme. The submissions are for newly appointed full-time tenure track faculty members and professional librarians who will take up their positions at Concordia on June 1, 1991. The submissions are also for individual faculty members or professional librarians, units or teams who wish to commence, resume or significantly re-orient their research or artistic activity. Note: this is not for seed or bridge funding. Please consult the "academic board" for application deadline dates.

Saturday morning's guest speaker is Susan Rubin Suleiman from Harvard University who will speak on "From Life Story to History: Simone de Beauvoir, Feminism, the Jews, and World War II." Friday's session will be held in the Lionel-Groulx Building, Room 3061. All other papers will be presented in the Jean-Brillant Building, auditorium C-2325. All participants are invited to a reception on Saturday, March 9 at 19:00 in the Lionel-Groulx Building, Room 3061. A $5.00 entrance fee will be required for non-conference participants. Further information about this conference can be obtained by contact Joyce Goggin or Jean-François Vallée at 343-6609.

A national conference on employment equity will be held in Ottawa on May 6 & 7, 1991. The conference title is "Equity in Universities: A Challenge for the Decade." All academic and non-academic university personnel are invited to meet and share information and discuss issues relating to employment and educational equity. The conference aims are: to provide a national-wide forum on equity issues of the 1990's; to develop commitment concerning all designated groups: women, visible minorities, native people and persons with disabilities; and finally, to develop strategies to implement policies promoting employment equity in a university setting. The conference is being organized by the Ontario University Employment and Educational Equity Network. For further information, contact co-ordinators Florence Redman (English), or Michèle Kérisit (French) at (613) 596-6818.

CONFERENCES CONTINUED

"L'Avenir des femmes dans la société québécoise de demain" est le thème du Colloque qui aura lieu les 21-22 et 23 mars 1991 à la salle 1006 du pavillon Pierre-Boucher, Université du Québec, à Trois-Rivières. Au Québec de l'an 2000, dans ses nouvelles dimensions sociales, politiques, éducatives, idéologiques etc., qu'en sera-t-il des femmes? Ce colloque se veut un moment d'accalmie où toutes ensemble, essayons d'y voir clair. Voir l'affiche sur le babillard "academic." Pour renseignements: Claire V. De La Durantaye, (819) 376-5080, où Nicole Bourget, (819) 376-5135.

We have received brochures for the Learned Societies Conference which will be held at Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario from May 26 to June 9, 1991. Please refer to the "academic" board for further information about accommodations, registration, entertainment, and optional tours offered during this extensive gathering of societies.

The University of Western Ontario has sent course information concerning their master's programme in Theory and Criticism. The programme, which was approved in June, 1990, offers study that addresses limitations of disciplinary research and opens up areas for investigation encouraging students to begin questioning entrenched assumptions about the standards of adequacy, and defined forms of inquiry. Sample brochures are available. Further information can be obtained by contacting Martin Kreiswirth, Director, at (519)661-3442.

Sally Spilhaus, Concordia's sexual harassment officer, has sent us a few promotional flyers for the services offered at her office. The flyers are available on the "social concerns" bulletin board. Sally Spilhaus's office is located at 2150 Bishop, Room K110; her telephone number is 848-4857.

Paule Leduc, President of the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council, released a new five-year strategic plan to focus on the Council's activities to strengthen Canada's research capacity in the social sciences and humanities. The Plan, "A Vision for the Future" has three priorities: to increase investment in the training of the next generation of researchers; to develop and promote research structures to enhance research quality; and to ensure that research results are more widely disseminated so that they will be of maximum benefit within all sectors of Canadian society.
